Netaji's ashes to be brought to India

From Our Special Representative

NEW DELHI, Thursday. — The Azad Hind Fauz personnel and the prominent Indians in Thailand, Malaysia and Singapore, who were attached to Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose, have expressed all their support to carry to India the remains of the ashes of Netaji from Rankoji temple in Tokyo, Mr V. L. Sunder Rao, a member of the All-India Netaji Memorial Committee, said today.

He said in a statement that during his recent tour of Thailand, Malaysia and Singapore the former INA personnel had suggested that a worthy memorial to Netaji and Azad Hind Fauz should be raised in front of the Red Fort, Gateway of India, in the Parade Grounds or nearabout Raj Ghat.

"These people whom I met in Bangkok, Singapore and Kuala Lumpur have fully confirmed the air crash accident and the death of Netaji. They have organized meetings and paid their homage to Netaji when the accident was announced. They never doubted the air crash news and none of them claimed that Netaji is alive. On the other hand, they were sorry for the Indian Government and Indian people for not taking any initiative to raise the memorials for the martyrs who sacrificed their lives during the freedom struggle under the Netaji Subhash Bose's leadership. They could not take the initiative because they are living in foreign countries," Mr Rao said.

He also said that if the Indian Government and the Indian people take necessary steps, "we can always expect full cooperation and help from the Governments of these countries and their people. So let us proceed on this assumption and do our best. These are the feelings of our own people who fought in the last battle of our freedom struggle, staking their kith and kin, their fortunes and lives and everything in the battlefields, starting from Singapore, Kuala Lumpur, Bangkok and Rangoon to liberate their motherland."

Netaji kin's plea to PM on 'ashes'

HT Correspondent

NEW DELHI, May 12

Family members of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose have urged Prime Minister V. P. Singh not to allow the "so called ashes" of the illustrious son of India to be brought to the country from Japan.

They are not convinced about Netaji's death in a plane crash and say that the ashes kept in a Japanese temple are not his remains.

In a letter to the Prime Minister, three of Netaji's relatives, Mr Ashoke Nath Bose, Mr Amiya Nath Bose and Mr Subrata Bose have given evidence of why they believe that the "ashes" are not those of Subhas Chandra Bose.

"The Government of India appointed two commissions of inquiry to go into this matter. The Janata Government rejected the findings of both the commissions. The Government of India finally decided that the story of Netaji's death in an air crash cannot be accepted as conclusive" the letter said.

Mr Amiya Nath Bose told newsmen

here today that Netaji's entire family was convinced that he had not died in an air crash. The ashes belonged to an unknown Japanese and were definitely not Netaji's ashes, he said.

"The question of bringing those 'ashes' cannot be tolerated by the members of the Bose family", he said.

Mr Bose said "certain interested persons" were keen on bringing the "ashes" and "foisting them on the Indian people". The photographs of a damaged plane which is said to have crashed killing Netaji had been declared fake by an American war correspondent Mr Alfred Wagg who had visited Taihoku (now Taipei) airport at the time of the crash.

Mr Bose said Col Habib-ur-Rahman of the Indian National Army (INA) who had accompanied Netaji to Saigon had been questioned in detail by Netaji's brother, Mr Sarat Chandra Bose, and his version of the alleged air crash had been rejected.

In 1979, the "civil and military Gazette" of Lahore had quoted Col Habib-ur-Rehman as saying that Subhash Chandra Bose had not died in aircrash, Mr Bose said.

Mr Bose said soon after Indian newspapers reported Netaji's death in the aircrash, Mahatma Gandhi had sent telegrams to members of Netaji's family saying he did not believe that Netaji had died in the accident.
